- Kids need to be with their peers. Especially the young ones.
- I've heard teachers and administrators also comment how much they need "their" kids!
- Edmonton Public Schools recently offered a Session named "Pathways to Resiliency" for parents which was led by Dr. Michael Ungar. It was a great review of this topic which I'd highly recommend checking out. He is a great resource, be sure to google his name!
- An article, penned by our Catchment Edmonton Public School Trustee Sherry Adams, about Dr. Ungar was included within a local Edmonton publication on page 10 of the April 2021 edition at <https://www.mwmosaic.ca/>
- The session led by the Sashbear foundation about the program Family Connections was absolutely awesome. They must help a lot of families...<https://sashbear.org/en/family-connections/family-connections-2> So good.
- Oh wow, thank you for sharing that!
- If student success is measured by achieving individual goals, how can student success of every child be encouraged, acknowledge and celebrated school wide. - love to hear ideas of what has been working in your junior high school
- Has anyone heard about Jack.org that Minister Lagrange mentioned in her address as a partner for mental health resources?
